HISTORY OF THE RED HILL SHOW - Snapshot

Excerpts from the Full history written by Marjorie Clyne & Keith Holmes | Edited by Liz Dart 2005

In 1896 a Red Hill Horticultural Society was formed and a Show was held later that year. The schedule included flowers, vegetables, fruit, farm produce and art. Exhibitors and spectators came in horse-drawn vehicles from surrounding areas to exhibit their produce and see what others were successfully growing in this early farming area.

The first Red Hill Show was staged in the long grading room, newly built, of the Red Hill Co-operative Cool-stores on Wednesday, March 29th, 1922. On the morning of the first show, local residents in their buggies and jinkers came from miles around, bearing picnic baskets and billies to boil for lunch in the shade of what the "Peninsula Post" of the day described as "a large forest which comes almost up to the coolstores and station".

A big moment was the arrival of the special train, 3 hours and 5 minutes out of Flinders Street, travelling, a journalist wrote, through "some of the most beautiful stretches of scenery in the State". The train disgorged a torrent of people. There was hardly room to move at the station. After all the lunches were eaten, the adults paid their one shilling admission and six pence for the children.

Inspired by the success of the first show, the show society held a series of working bees to clear the timber from the reserve and a site was soon ready for a pavilion which was built by Mr John Wiseman, in time for the second show on March 28th 1923. The building is still in use and is known as the Pioneer's Pavilion or the "Green Pavilion".

When Red Hill Football Club was formed in 1929 the iron shed served as a changing room for the visiting team. The home side used the show's luncheon room, built alongside the main pavilion in 1928. The luncheon room was used as an Army canteen for troops camped on Red Hill during the 1939-45 War. The room was later enlarged and a 1949 Minute reveals that owing to a post-war cement shortage, no concrete floor would be laid in the pavilion. An extension to the east was completed in 1969.

The Show Society had purchased three and a half acres of additional land in 1959 from Mr Albert Sherwood. A government grant was obtained and in 1966 the contract to build the cattle pavilion was let to Mr Ted Littlejohn and working bees cleared the site. The pavilion was ready for the 1967 show, the year after the show went decimal and raised admission charges to 50c.

In its hey-day Red Hill was billed as the "best fruit show in the State" Fruit agents donated elaborate silver trophies for classes like 'best varieties of export apples' or 'Champion Tray'. The heaviest pumpkin always intrigued the crowd. The heaviest of which there is a record was 109 pounds in 1973, grown at Boneo where extensive vegetable farming is carried out.

In 1969 a grant was obtained to build a poultry pavilion and in 1980 the size of that pavilion was doubled. In September 1972, the Show Society had contributed $4000 to the Shire of Flinders for the purchase of Sherwoods land for another pavilion. The new craft and cookery pavilion, built by R J Rollings, was ready for the 1974 show.

The Society purchased its own headquarters when Mrs Mary Farr's home adjoining the show grounds came on the market in 1981. The first meeting in the new headquarters was held on 25th August 1981 and the house was subsequently named "Scott House" commemorating the generous support of the Society from the brothers Roy and George Scott of "Larnach" Baxter.

The shows continuing success is thanks to so many volunteers and supporters in our community.

MORE ABOUT OUR MAJOR SPONSORS

Thanks to the Mornington Peninsula Shire for their show support. The grants given help us fund so many initiatives, exhibits and activities. A 2020 community grant went towards better signage around the grounds. The Shire's vision: To value, protect and improve the unique characteristics and way of life on our peninsula. "Valuing our unique peninsula".

Hillview Quarries was established 50 years ago and has supported many community events all over the Mornington Peninsula and beyond. As a major sponsor of the Red Hill Show, Hillview Quarries has for the past 30 years supported this community event to ensure it continues to remain the premier event for the Red Hill district. Hillview Quarries look forward to its continued success and trusts that it continues to evolve and grow, as well as retaining its status to showcase the amazing variety that Red Hill and the diverse surrounding community provides.

Bringing over 25 years of combined experience in the real estate, equine and building industries, smoothing the path to a satisfying outcome for both buyer and vendor. Helping the Red Hill Show towards its goals of becoming a Sustainable Event.

The Grand Hotel has been a Show sponsor since 1909... yes, that's not a typo 1909. Longtime sponsors of the Woodchop, the Grand Hotel Mornington is one of the premier live music venues on the Peninsula and it's only fitting that they become the sponsor of our new Community Music Marquee.

We most certainly couldn't put on a woodchop without Hastings Mowers. A major sponsor in this section, not only offering financial assistance but a top quality product towards the winning class. Family owned since 1966, it is a business that puts our community first.
